

SNOW DAYS

We all enjoyed a short break due to the snowfall this past week. When school resumed on Thursday, the LEAP class made learning enjoyable by conducting a science experiment where they dropped snow and ice to observe what would happen. Be sure to check out our Facebook post showcasing all the NCS families enjoying their snow days!

LANDS' END
SCHOOL

NCS is thrilled to announce our partnership with Lands' End School Uniform Company! The NCS shop is now live, and the link to make a purchase can be found here.

Our current uniform options will remain available for the remainder of this school year and the 2025-2026 school year. NCS has a stock of new long-sleeve red, black, and white shirts and long pants, shorts, and skirts available at a discounted rate. These can be bought in the Administration Building on the second floor. With cooler weather approaching, you also have the option to purchase French Toast khakis from Amazon in the matching khaki color. If you have any questions about uniforms, please contact Melanie Owens @ mowens@northlandchristian.org.

Economics Class

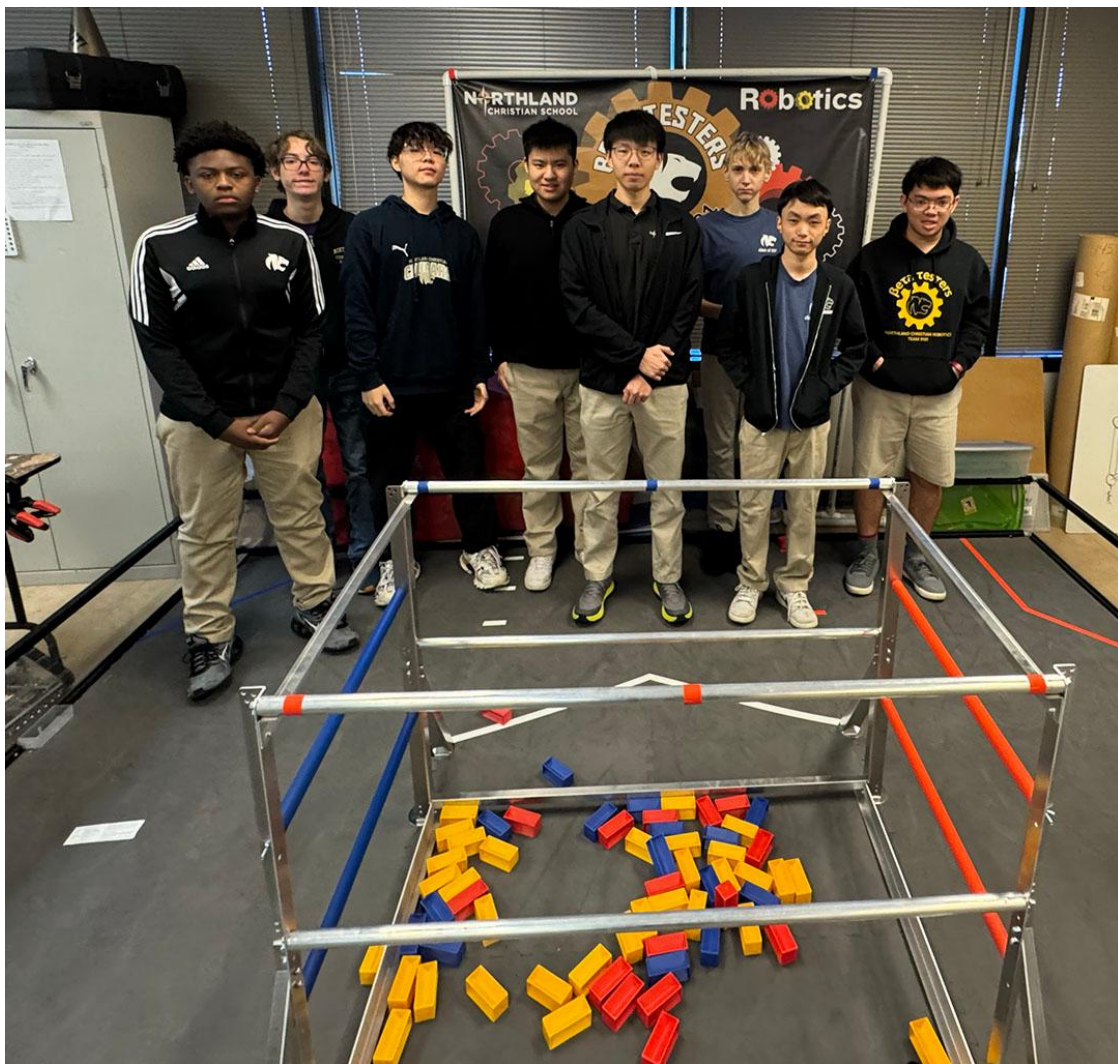

Academic-level Economics students were tasked with figuring out how to survive in a post-apocalyptic world. Their instructions: It's finally happened: the zombie apocalypse! That's right- you live in a post-apocalyptic world. Devastation surrounds you, broken infrastructure crumbles, communications are destroyed, and zombies roam. The population of your city has become so diminished that only about 1,000 people remain. You've secured a small area that you think is fairly safe from the zombies. The war is over, and it's time to rebuild. The people look to you to forge a bright future and a stable economy.

They had to draw a map of the city and figure out an economic plan, determine the type of the government & what level of government intervention, address the spiritual needs of their community, and problem-solve future concerns (they were given three possible scenarios that they might face, and they had to come up with a plan on how to do so). The lesson was a summative assessment of unit one's basic economic concept. Still, it added the Biblical integration component by asking students to address the emotional and spiritual well-being of their society as they survived the trauma, loss, and fear of the unknown.

The class was divided into groups of 5-6 students to complete the activity.

While in North Carolina, students also got to tour Duke University!

Thirty-six of our sixth graders had an out-of-this-world adventure at the George Observatory! They dove into a thrilling simulated space mission, explored the observatory dome, and learned how astronomers observe celestial wonders—including tips for stargazing from their own backyards.

Students connected their math and science lessons to real-world applications, from understanding how telescopes work to exploring the forces and patterns that govern our solar system. To top it all off, they even pet a baby alligator during lunch! The trip sparked curiosity and inspired our future scientists and mathematicians to keep reaching for the stars—no telescope required!

Middle School Soccer completed its season this week. We are so proud of these athletes. They worked very hard and dedicated their time and talent to Northland and our soccer program. It was a great season by all, and we are excited for the future here!

High School Boys remain undefeated and look to have a strong playoff run.

High School Girls are working hard as a team and are looking forward to Senior recognition this Thursday.

We have home games this week on Monday, Thursday, and Friday! Come out and support the Cougars!!

NCS Swim Team

On Saturday, January 25th, four Varsity Cougars competed in the TAPPS Regional Swim Meet. Congratulations to Savannah Hardwick - 3rd in 50 Freestyle and 5th in 100 Backstroke, Carolina Crespo - 9th in 50 Freestyle and 8th in 100 Backstroke, Garrett Hardwick- 7th in 50 Freestyle and 4th in 100 Freestyle; and Stetson Hardwick- 10th in 50 freestyle and 6th in 100 Freestyle. Way to go, Cougars! Savannah will be heading to State in TAPPS in February. Congratulations Savannah!!
